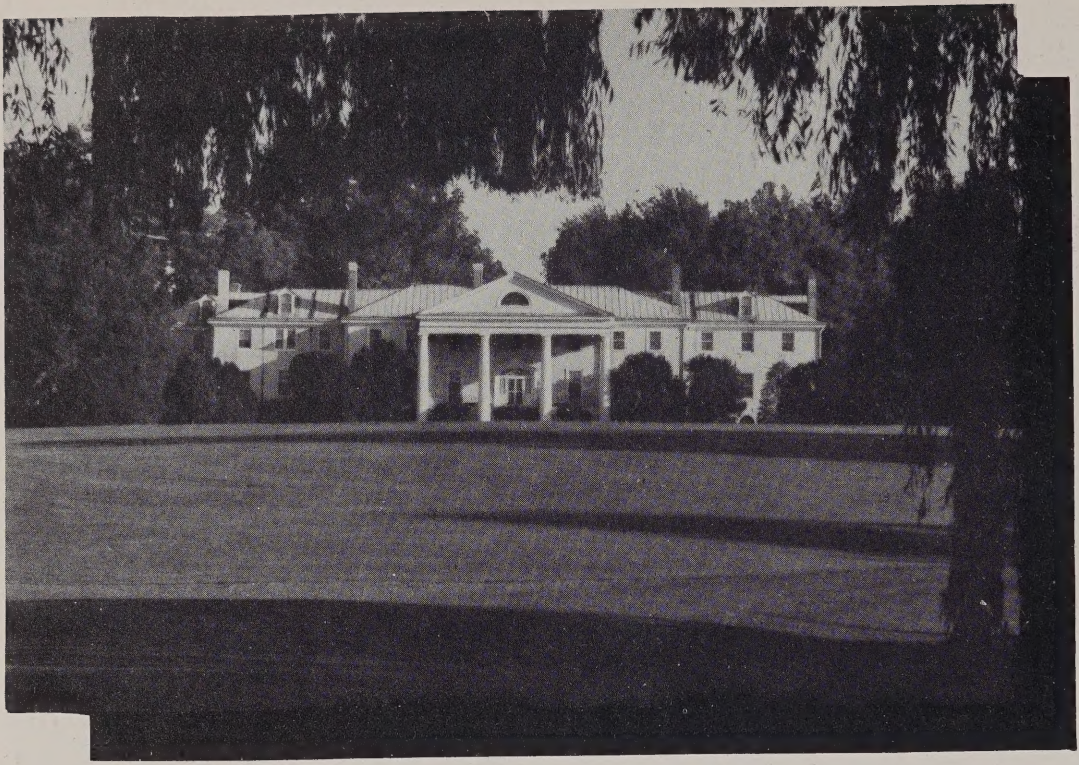
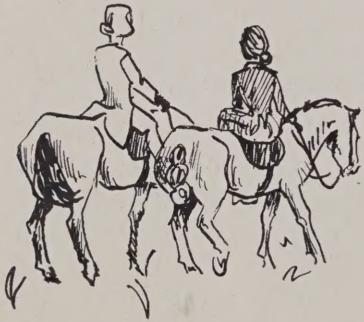
MADISON HIGH SCHOOL

This is Montpelier...





Ghosts of Madison's qualities of leadership and learning wandered in the formal gardens and lingered in the pillared rooms...

For a century and a half this house stood, guarding the traditions of the past...

Two years ago, the doors of James Madison High School were opened to its new students. Many were apprehensive about attending a brand new school, but others expressed an eagerness, enthusiasm, and willingness to make something of this large brick building.

The first year was a hard one, and all was not polished and finished. We met many obstacles in our path and we solved them as best we could. It was a time for the students to get settled and situated in their routines, for the students and administration to become acquainted, and for the clubs and organizations to be established. Despite problems, Madison did sponsor several large projects, such as a Christmas welfare drive and a profitable magazine drive.

This year, 1960-61, has found Madison students full of school spirit and busy with various activities, such as sponsoring another successful magazine drive, producing two plays, being host for the Northern Virginia District S.C.A. Meeting, and purchasing band uniforms with the money gained from the preceding year's magazine drive.

In September, Madison will begin its third year. We, the students, look forward to all the accomplishments of the future.

Carrying traditions on, just as we do here at...

Fairfax County School Board

The Fairfax County School Board is a body of citizens who have been given the responsibility of conducting and supervising the public schools. It is their chief function to set up school policies and to establish rules and regulations in accordance with the county and state laws.

The executive director of the School Board, the superintendent of schools, has full responsibility for the conduct of his office and the preparation of a budget.

Fairfax County is very fortunate in having such a high quality of leadership.

Madison's faculty is composed of well-trained and experienced teachers. They have worked closely with the students and have shown a sincere interest in them.

When Madison opened two years ago, the faculty labored towards a successful year. This year these teachers have endeavored to instill in us a feeling of responsibility and a sense of duty and loyalty. They have spent much of their time and efforts in order to make us better citizens in school and out.

By inspiring us, through their example and by their words, to appreciate scholarship and the acquisition of knowledge, the standing of the school has been raised. They have understood our problems and helped us in every way to solve them. With their guidance and advice, Madison's students have enjoyed a full year of learning, extra-curricular activities, and have found a loyalty to Madison that is second to none.

Faculty

ELTON A. BONNER
Principal

As our first principal, Mr. Bonner has demonstrated his understanding and interest in the student body and faculty. As a result of his patience, guidance, and wisdom, Madison has experienced another successful school year. His cooperation and sincerity have been an inspiration to us all. His leadership has encouraged every one of us to participate in all things to make Madison the fine school it is today.

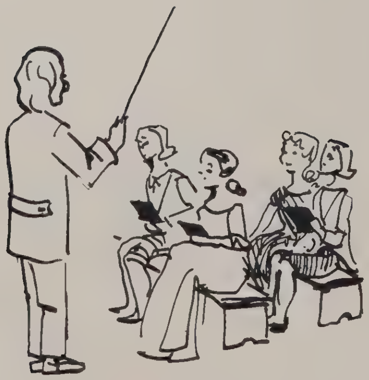
Students. . . . .

Being citizens of the United States of America, we each have the inherent right to liberty, equality, and democracy, as well as the opportunity and privilege of attending a public school to acquire a liberal education. We of America often take for granted these privileges with which we have been blessed. But these were endowed to us by our forefathers, given to us in trust and confidence, and we today should try to work to be deserving of them.

A high school education is important in developing in the student high morals and principles. It gives a person confidence in his abilities and shows him a view of a brighter future. In a school, those in search of knowledge can have the satisfying experience of discovering it. There the appreciation of scholarship, the responsibility of citizenship and the love of democracy will be implanted in us, attributes which will always remain with us.



Seniors. . . . .

As we complete our final session of high school, we pause to contemplate the years in review. We remember the eighth grade antics, the crispness of the first football game, the thrill of formal dances, the buzz of excitement upon receiving Senior privileges, the painting of the water towers, the elegance of the Senior prom, and the tears of commencement and graduation. These all go to make up the wonderful years we have spent in high school. Although we have not always attended Madison, we have the privilege of being the first graduating class. During the past two years, we have established traditions and set ideals that future graduating classes might follow.

Now, as we face the world to lead our own individual lives, many friendships will fade and many pranks will be forgotten, but we will always carry with us these cherished memories.

"No, no!" cries Class President Danny Robinson as Senior cheerleaders watch some newcomers rehearse a chorus line.

Juniors . . . .

This year is certainly one which all Juniors will remember for all its accomplishments. The Junior class has been very active, sponsoring football games, taking over the breakfast club established by the previous Junior class, presenting the Junior class play, and supporting many other activities of the school. Our biggest project was the sponsoring and the financing of the lavish Junior-Senior prom, and the greatest thrill, receiving our long-awaited class rings in the spring.

As we will be returning next September to begin our final year of high school, our minds turn to things of a more serious nature. We have a sincere desire to maintain the high standards set forth by Madison's first graduating class.

Sophomores . . . .

This past year has been very successful and rewarding for the Sophomore class. Remembering that next year it will be our responsibility to finance the prom for the Seniors, we have worked hard in order to gain both money and prestige. Mr. Bradford, our sponsor, has been of great assistance by sharing his experience with us and advising us in all of our undertakings.

During the year we sponsored football games and dances. The records which our classmen made on the Junior Varsity teams have made us justly proud. The Sophomore picnic and dance at the termination of the year were certainly well earned rewards for all of our labors.

Freshmen . . . .

When we first entered Madison, everything was new and different to us. We were not accustomed to high school life, and, as a result, we made many mistakes. But as each day passed, we continued to learn by our own experience and the examples of the upperclassmen.

During our first year of high school we have tried to gain the recognition and respect of those about us. We now realize that through these efforts we have really become an active part of Madison. As Freshmen, our activities have included sponsoring football games and after-game hops. We are also proud of the showing our boys made on the Freshmen teams of football and basketball. Near the termination of the school year we held a traditional dance exclusively for Freshmen.

As future Sophomores, we are faced with more responsibilities and obligations, but we are also looking foward to performing bigger and better services for our school.

Sports. . . . .

Sportsmanship — teamwork — school spirit. These are the words to describe the 1960-1961 Warhawk athletic program. Win or lose, whether for old teams or the new, there was always a crowd of Madison rooters cheering for their team. No Warhawk will ever forget the excitement and the crowds at the games, the thrill of seeing Madison drive for the winning touchdown, basket, or home run, or the half-time shows with our band or majorettes performing in their new uniforms. The athletes will remember those sore muscles after first practices, and the nervous feeling before the first game. The coaches will remember the thrill of winning the big game or the disappointment of losing the close one. All three, spectators, players, and coaches, united to make this a thrilling year in the field of athletic achievement.

Varsity

A POOR START . . .

Returning to the football field this year with a year's varsity experience behind them, Mr. Weaver's boys were ready for some victories. At the beginning of the season, it seemed that this was not to be, as the Warhawks lost their first four. However, playing Lee on the new home field, the Warhawks won their first game of the year, 27-0. Now the Warhawks were ready to roll!

Next week the Madison squad traveled to Wakefield to play Yorktown. The rooters returned home that night barely able to whisper, but happy: Madison won in one of the most exciting games yet.

The Warhawk defensive team cracks down on a Lee ball carrier.

Football

. . . AND A SHINING FINALE

Losing to Wakefield and then to Falls Church, when Ronnie Glaze's 90 yard touchdown run in the closing two minutes of the game was called back, Warhawks were afraid they had seen their last win. But on the following Saturday, they learned the team was not ready to give up. Madison beat Osbourn by stopping an Osbourn drive within their own five-yard line in the last ten seconds of the game, surpassing even the Yorktown game for thrills, excitement, and hoarse students. Then, against all popular opinion, Madison beat McLean 19-6 as a thrilling wind-up to a thrilling season.

J.V. Football

The Madison J.V. Football team played a fine season in '60 while gaining the experience which will help them lead the Warhawk varsity to victories in years to come. With almost the entire J.V. squad returning from last year, the boys showed they were determined to make Madison Warhawks a name to be feared on the football field.

Schedule

Starting out with a group of inexperienced boys, Mr. Hannah has molded them into a fine football team. Sparked by the enthusiastic support of their fellow students, they played every game with the same sportsmanship and the same desire to win that marked the quality of play of the varsity and J.V. teams.

Varsity Basketball

Paced by the shooting of Co-captains Lonnie Jones and Phil Humphreys, the Warhawks were a far better team than their record indicated. Spirited, in spite of the poor season, the team always came out on the court with the desire to play their best. Senior Lonnie Jones was one of the leading scorers, not only in Northern Virginia, but in the state of Virginia.

Filling the Madison stands at every game, the students gave their full support to the team. No one will ever be able to forget this season. The Fairfax game, going into two overtime periods before Fairfax won by one point, the night that our co-captains scored 52 points between them—these and many more events made the season one that will live in our memories forever.

J.V. Basketball

Mr. Hannah, taking over as J.V. coach this year, coached his boys into a fine basketball team. Although they had a poor season, they were ably supported by the student body, and gained experience which will be invaluable aid to future varsity teams. Paced by Bob Rupp, leading scorer for the team, the boys played good basketball every minute of every game.

Cross Country

Although only an unofficial team this year, the Cross Country team turned in the best season of any Madison athletic team. Paced by Jim Parsons, they won each of their regular meets and placed high in the Invitational meets in which they participated. With all of the boys except two returning next year, we can hope for a repeat of this year's fine record when Madison's Cross Country team becomes official.

Lacking a track to practice on, the team had to make do by running through the woods and over the back roads of Vienna. Occasionally they stopped for a root beer, but their record shows that neither the root beers or the lack of a track prevented the boys from producing the finest team in the county.

Wrestling

Taking up a relatively new sport in Fairfax County, Madison formed its first wrestling team this year. Howard Grominger, new to Madison, was the only member of the squad who had had any previous experience. The rest of the team had to learn the sport from scratch from Coach Woodward, according to the rules set down for interscholastic teams. Many boys thought that high school wrestling was similar to professional wrestling. Contrary to this belief, however, gouging of the eyes, body slams, and kicking your opponent while he is down is not permitted.

The student body had even less of an idea what wrestling was really like, but large crowds turned out anyway to support the team. Many students were greatly surprised to find that wrestling is such a gruelling and exciting sport. Losing only six members of the squad, Mr. Woodward can expect a fully-experienced team to turn out next year.

Track

Placing ninth in the Fairfax County Relays, the Warhawk Track Team came out ahead of J.E.B. Stuart, and with this encouraging sign, the boys expected to win some meets in spite of their lack of experience. Although this was not the way the season turned out, the team never lost its team spirit and desire to win. The big disappointment of the season was the defeat at the hands of Osbourn by three points.

Led by Lee Lyons, Bill House, Fred Bryant, and John Goodwin, the Warhawks were especially strong in the hurdles, shot put, and pole vaulting events. The team will return in '61 greatly benefitted by a year's experience.

Judges watch closely to mark the spot where Penny Pennino's heels hit the sawdust as he goes for a winning broadjump.

John Goodwin shows his pole vaulting form at the Fairfax County Relays, where he tied for third place.

Mike Benton practices the high jump.

Bob Tate winds up for the discus throw.

Track team captain Bill House throws the shot for the Warhawks.

Ray Hunt goes over the high hurdles while practicing for his event in the next meet.

Bob Van Buskirk finishes the last lap of the four mile relay at the County Relays.

One lap to go as Conrad Goodkind leads in the 880 yard race at Hammond.

Lee Lyons demonstrates the hurdle form which helped make him leading scorer for the team.

Varsity Baseball

The varsity baseball team, with two wins, had the best season of any varsity team during Madison's first year of competition. Defeating Falls Church in the first game of the season 8-0, the team seemed ready to make up for the poor seasons faced by the other teams during the year. However, the team was plagued by bad luck, losing several games by only one or two runs, and picking up only one other win.

High school baseball usually does not attract large crowds, but the Warhawks, in spite of the season's losses, always played before a large crowd of Madison rooters. Fans will long remember the brilliant play by Bruce Barackman at third and Bruce Cooper at first. Sparked at the plate by Billy Darne, Marvin Hicks, John Leishear, and Bruce Barackman, the Warhawks always made their turn at bat an exciting part of the game. With nearly the whole squad returning next year and a year's experience behind them, the team expects a much better season in '61.

"And now the air is shattered by the force of Casey's blow . . ." Pete Wrenn at the plate for Madison.

J.V. Baseball

Undefeated by any Fairfax County teams, the outstanding J.V. Baseball team captured the Fairfax County J.V. Championship. During their season, not only did the J.V. boys win the county championship, but they were the only team of the year to hand a Stuart squad a defeat in any sport. The J.V. team will probably lose some boys to the Varsity next year, but for the most part the team will return intact for, we hope, a similar season.

Don Smiley is at bat with Bob Rupp catching as the Jayvees practice.

BOOSTING SPIRIT

Morale and school spirit play an important role at any competitive sport. Our cheerleaders here at Madison certainly have contributed to this feeling with their strong voices, exuberancy and vivacity.

Madison's cheerleaders give a jump for the team.

"We're Gonna Bop" — and yell for the Basketball team.

Besides leading yells for their successful J.V. teams, Penny Gottlieb, Susie Douglas, Vivian Crater, Roxi Redmond, Pat Aamodt, Jane Smith, and Charlotte Reid, helped out by selling programs at Varsity games.

The spirited cheering of Nan Nixon, Mary Jo Slusher, Janet Whitehead, Connie Mason, Ruth Dominy, Andrea Frick, and Bonnie Wells epppup the ninth grade games.

Girls' Sports............

In the days of James and Dolly, young ladies sat on cushions embroidering hankerchiefs. Times have changed however; now one finds the cushions empty and the young ladies playing powderpuff football. Hockey sticks, basketballs and catchers' masks have replaced the hankerchiefs.

Madison High School is no exception; although the Varsity teams met with many defeats, many of the games were close and hard fought. The J.V. teams showed that Madison is not always on the losing end. The loss of the Seniors will greatly hamper Madison's teams but the remaining Varsity and J.V. players will lead the teams to victory.

Varsity Hockey

Madison's hockey team has improved considerably in skill as well as sportsmanship and team spirit. After completing another season, the varsity team came up with a record of twice as many victories as its previous year. This year the team boasts two wins, one over Osborn and the other over Stuart.

One much needed improvement that was made this year was the obtaining of new uniforms and hockey sticks.

Madison can be proud of the record made by these girls. Next year we look forward to an even better season.

Madison Beats Stuart

Madison breaks away again as Neen Blackwell sends the ball down the field and Helen Intlekofer moves in to cover her.

Goal for Madison! Stuart players are unable to prevent Gena Rockwell from hitting another ball into the goal cage.

J.V. Hockey

The J.V. Hockey team showed themselves to be in top shape this year. They had an undefeated season of three wins and three ties. Their spirit, high at all times, was enviable when they saw that they had a strong season going, and it never faltered, even in those inevitable spots where the opposing team is ahead. The J.V. team earned the congratulations it received.

J.V. Softball

The J.V. softball team had a highly successful season. The team was composed almost entirely of eighth grade girls. Consequently this year's team should fare just as well if not better since most of last year's team will return.

To supplement for the Girls' Athletic Department, the team members ran the refreshment stand at home games. Here Francis Kitchen, Gena Rockwell, Neen Blackwell and Jane Brockwell hurry to make change and to convince the hungry spectators that they want cokes, hot dogs and potato chips.

Organizations . . . .

Clubs and organizations play an integral part in the curriculum of any school. Besides providing a source of relaxation and enjoyment to those who participate, these clubs afford benefits to the school, both monetary and scholastic. By gathering people with similar interests and enabling them to broaden their knowledge of these fields, they help to form better school citizens.

In the past year the number of clubs increased greatly and today there is a wide variety present in Madison. Now, as Madison looks toward the future, the clubs continue to grow and participate.

The Montpelier

Work for the Montpelier was begun late last spring when the staff chose the name and theme. During the summer, our editor drew page plans in the dummy books, so that work could begin early in the fall. In September, the planning and discussions became reality as the labor began. Neither snow nor sleet nor dark of night could stop the material from leaving, though it sometimes was delayed. Work was feverishly started and completed for each deadline. Now, with the final deadline over, the entire staff can say, "It's been loads of fun, even with all the heartbreaks . . . I don't want to quit!"

Hawk Talk

Madison's Hawk Talk has many aims and purposes. Its chief function is to keep the student body informed of the activities in and around the school. Besides being a mere recorder of facts, Hawk Talk also tries to stimulate constructive thinking and actions. It aims to instill in the student a feeling of pride and loyalty to Madison.

the school. During the past year the S.C.A. has played host to the Northern District Meeting of the State Student Cooperation Associations, taken charge of hall monitoring and coordinating student activities, conducted various drives including a Christmas Welfare Drive, and a successful magazine drive, and sponsored the popular Mardi Gras dance. By contributing to the activities of the Student Council, the students contribute to their own school life.

Officers

James Madison High School's Student Cooperative Association represents many things. But foremost, it stands for self government, a privilege of a democracy. Here at Madison, the students elected their own student leaders — a president, vice-president, secretary, and treasurer. In their hands have lain the responsibilities of school functions and activities. Madison can certainly be proud of the S.C.A. officers and the job that they did this past year.

The Cabinet

The S.C.A. cabinet is a group of students chosen by the president for the purpose of assisting him in the affairs of the school. This group has exerted much time and effort for their respective jobs, coordinating the activities of the school and the clubs, and organizing benefit drives and dances.

Concert

This year the Concert Band, resplendent in their new uniforms, brought the gift of music to James Madison. They gave several concerts for the enjoyment of the student body. In May, they attended the Apple Blossom Festival in Wincester. They also hold a Clinic Concert, wherein a visiting band director directed the band for two days, at the end of which a concert was held.

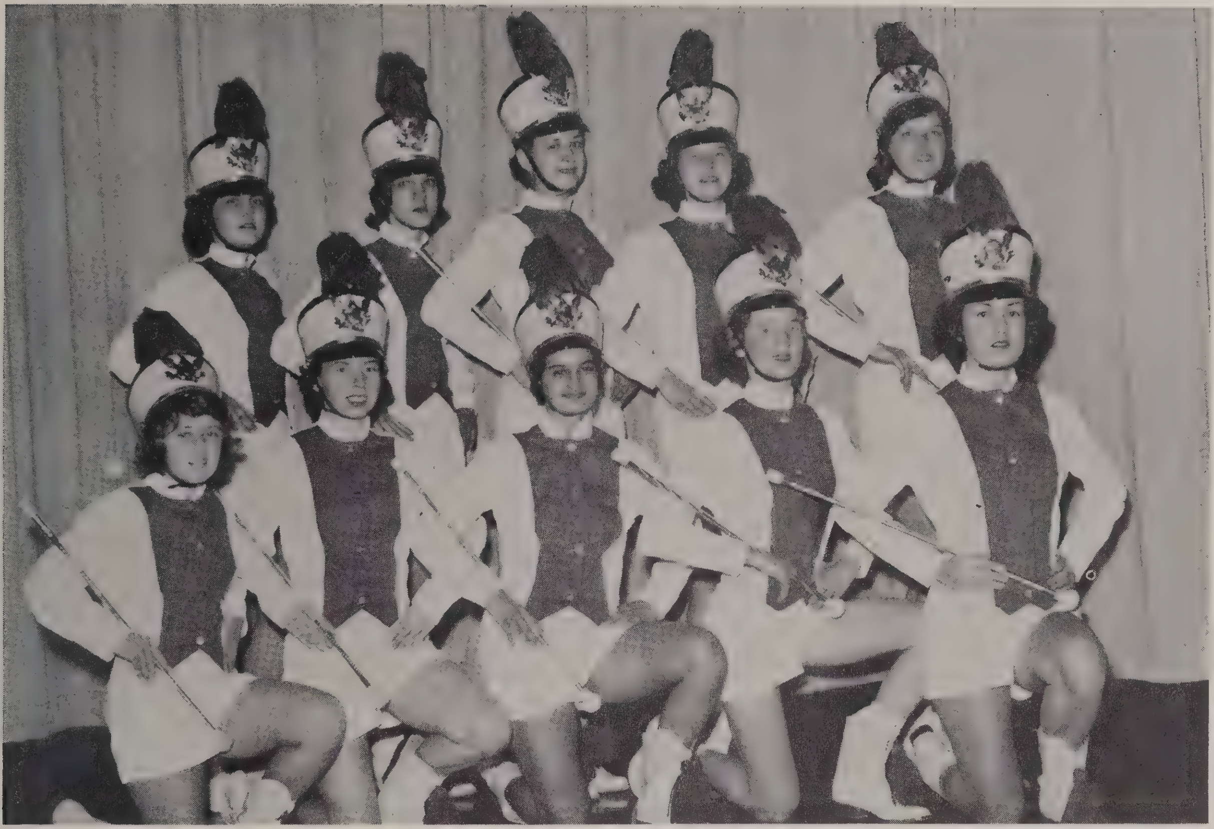
Cadet Band

Although this band has had little publicity in the past, it can be commended for its many accomplishments. Used as a beginning band, many of its present members will comprise next year's Concert Band. The group marched with the Concert Band at football games, during the ball, and participated in the band clinic and concert in early May.



Kneeling: Barbara Lane, Kathy Barton, Shelia Vella, Dea Ann Borland, and Carol Augustine. Standing: Carol Janes, Chris Omasta, Bobbie Bell, Janet Williams, and Nancy Lunsford.

Majorettes

Although they practiced daily during first period and often after school, the Madison Majorettes were able to march in only one football game this season, to which they were able to impart a glimmering finish as Madison defeated McLean. Marching in the Apple Blossom Festival and several local parades have given them chances to display their new uniforms, however, and they are eagerly looking forward to next year.

A Capel

Under the direction of Mrs. Mahaffey, the A Capel Choir has completed another successful year as Madison's most experienced choral group. Appearing in the Christmas Concert and Assembly, the first performance of the year, in conjunction with the other choruses, the band, and the drama classes, the choir showed their high vocal quality. Later in the year, the choir played host to the visiting choir from Virginia Military Institute.

project, the Choir sang in robes for the first time, purchased with money raised by choir members in the Student Council Magazine Drive. The culmination of the year's efforts, and for the Seniors which compose most of the A Capel group, the culmination of all high school singing activity was a performance with other county schools for the retiring Superintendent of Fairfax County Schools, W. T. Woodson, and a performance at Baccalaureate. Of course, with the prospect of increased membership and new robes, next year, the A Capel Choir will be still more active.

V.M.I.'s Glee Club was a huge success at Madison, especially with the girls in the A Capel Choir who acted as their guides.

Mixed Chorus

Most of the practicing done this year has been in preparation for the Spring Concert. The group also performed in the successful Christmas Concert and numerous other programs. This group has become one of Madison's best organization under the capable leadership of Mrs. Siddartha Mahaffey.

Girls' Chorus

The Girls' Chorus is organized mainly for the purpose of giving girls the experience of singing together. It is composed almost entirely of freshmen and sophomores. Besides singing many difficult pieces for concerts, the chorus has enjoyed singing every day fifth period.

Madison Club

Service to the school and to the community is the underlying purpose of the Madison Club.

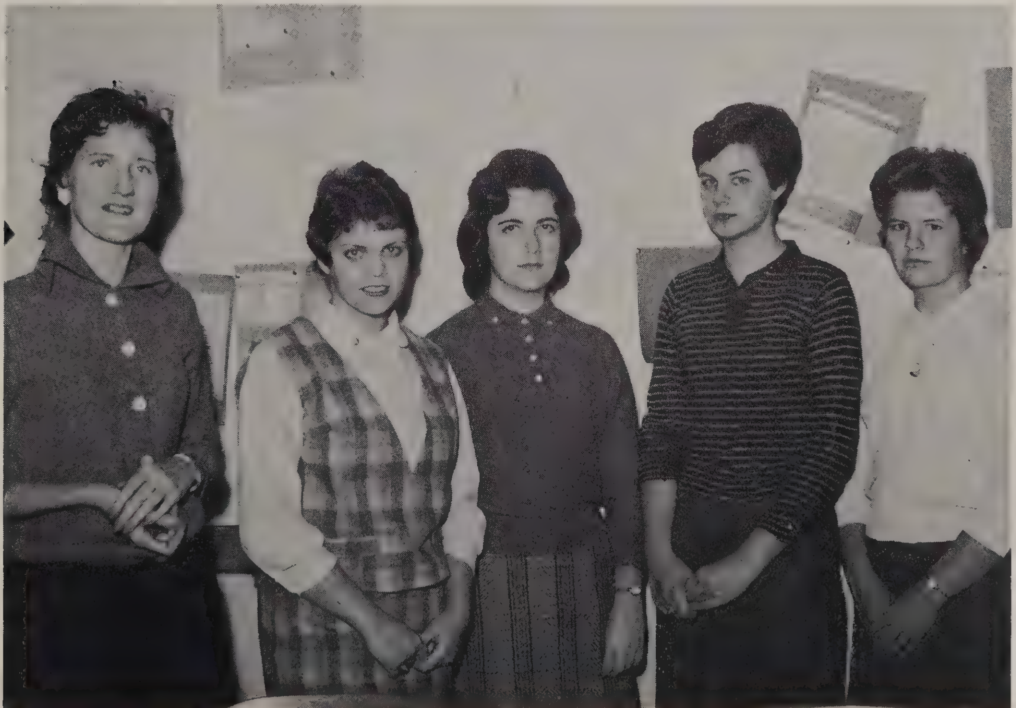
By sponsoring the Christmas formal, planting tulip bulbs, and parking cars at major school functions, the group has lived up to its intentions. A paid assembly, the annual Variety Show, helped raise money for the foreign exchange student.

Members of the club who must be students in good standing are carefully screened before being selected for membership.

Madisonettes

Organizing for the first time this year, the Madisonettes intend to become a sister organization to the Madison Club. A planning council of seven members wrote the constitution and made out the application forms for the first members, which were admitted during the second semester. After an apprentice period of four weeks, during which the group of applicants were split into five project groups, the applicants were re-evaluated and admitted to membership at the end of the year.

Planning Council: Miss Worthington, Sponsor; Kathy Burke; Pat Flaherty, Secretary; Pat Niccoli; Wenonah Heyl. Not shown: Tanya Suarez, President; Jan Smith, Nan Blackwell.



Pep Club

This organization promotes school spirit among the student body. This year the club accomplished this by selling school pins, decorating goal posts in the football season and many other spirit-arousing projects.

Wig And Rouge

Under the guidance of Miss Walton, Wig and Rouge, our drama club, has grown noticeably. This year they sponsored and co-sponsored several successful plays, including a one-act play for the District One-Act Play Festival. Much of the proceeds went to buy stage equipment and to generally improve the appearance of the stage.

Quill And Scroll

Quill and Scroll is an honorary organization for those students who have displayed outstanding ability in writing for the school publications. In order to be eligible for membership, students must accumulate one hundred hours of work for some publication and be in the upper third of their class. In the past year this club has been involved in several activities. One of the larger projects was the publishing of the student directory.

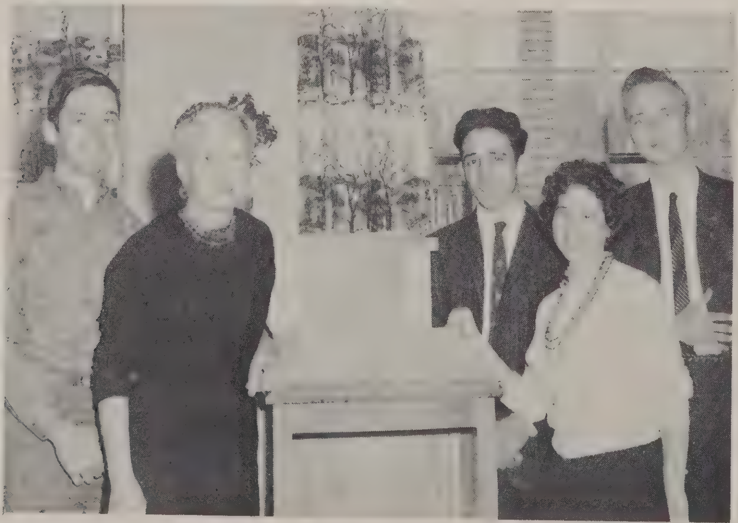
Debate Club

Treasurer, Jon Broome; Sponsor, Mrs. Garland; Co-president, Conrad Goodkind; Secretary, Bryna Haspiel; President, Charles Vasaly.



In its first year, the Debate Club finished with a good record, the negative team coming in second in Northern Virginia by defeating Fairfax, McLean, and Osbourn, losing to Annadale, and Falls Church, and, by only one point, to W-L. The affirmative team won over Osbourn.

"That the power of the United Nations should be significantly strengthened" was the resolve for this year, and, with more experienced group, the team finished the season with an excellent record.

F.H.A.

Future Homemakers of America promotes a growing appreciation of homemaking and fosters development of creative leadership in home as well as community life. The club provides many opportunities to students who wish to have additional experience in planning and carrying out activities relating to homemaking. As a project the members made Christmas angels for the Arlington hospital and also held a bake sale in Vienna. A fashion show in May was another club project.

Sponsor, Miss Denny; Beth Shearer, President, Ryan Stewart; Dan Weatherly, Elaine Hoptiak, Christine Hedrick, Sponsor, Mrs. Griffin.

F.T.A.

Future Teachers of America helps students who are interested in teaching decide whether they wish to pursue this career. One way they accomplish this is by observing for a half-day and teaching the remaining half in an elementary school classroom.

Much of the club's efforts have been directed toward raising money for a foreign exchange student. With the help of other organizations in the school, the goal of $600 was reached, and the members now look forward to meeting a teenager from another country.

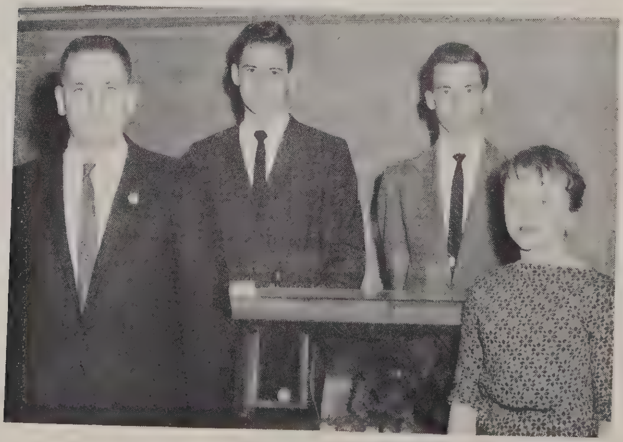
Natural Science Club

Treasurer, Kenneth May; Sponsor, Mr. Williams; President, David DeWitt; Secretary, Charla Hall.



The Natural Science Club was organized to promote interest in scientific learning and to encourage scientific experimentation. The club is formed of students who have banded together to promote study in the various fields of Natural Science, such as earth science, biology, biochemistry, and astronomy. This year the club has begun assembling a science library and has sponsored a series of lectures by scientists in conjunction with the Washington Academy of Science.

Rocket Club

Secretary-Treasurer, Conrad Goodkind; President, Charles Vasaly; Vice-President, Edsel Montgomery; Sponsor, Col. Bart.

After two years, of existence, the Rocket Society has already achieved many of its preliminary goals. This year, as last, the project involved the use of balloons for upper altitude research work. Under the guidance of the sponsor, Col. Bart, the club has accomplished and learned much in space research. Unfortunately, many senior members will not be here next year to work more ambitious projects next year.

Activities.....................

Throughout the year, special events brightened the daily routine of school life. Formal and semi-formal dances, as well as numerous sock hops, highlighted the social swing. Drives raised money for the March of Dimes, gathered food for the needy at Christmas, and sold magaines to finance school necessities. Plays, concerts, and assemblies utilized the dramatic and musical talents of the Warhawks.

The Senior Cheerleaders in tears as they received roses presented by the Senior Class, Miss Walton, drama teacher, trapped in a mummy case before the performance of "The Man Who Came to Dinner," trudging through the knee-deep, dirty snow drifts to sell magazines, dancing the night away to the music of the Twilighters — these memories, among others, will stand out in our minds as we think back over the activities of 1960-'61.

Mike Mason, football captain, and Donna Pennino, last year's queen, await the arrival of the candidates.

Marynell Meyers, Nancy Arbogast, and Barbara Buckles, senior candidates, wave to the crowd.

Autumn Gold

Senior Barbara Buckles reigned as queen of the Autumn Gold Dance, November 12 — a date doubly joyous for the Warhawks. That afternoon, cheering spectators saw Madison beat Osbourn and watched the presentation of the '60-'61 Football Court. Then, amidst swaying gold leaves and walls camouflaged by orange streamers, Warhawks celebrated the victory.

A football, a kiss, and . . .

A crown for Queen Barbara Buckles.

After the excitement, the court and their escorts return to the stands.

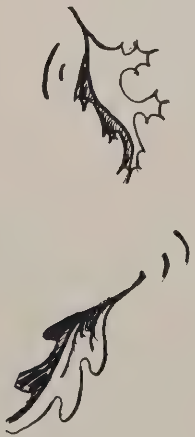
BEFORE: Barbara attacks her hair with the hair dryer . . .



AND AFTER: A radiant queen.

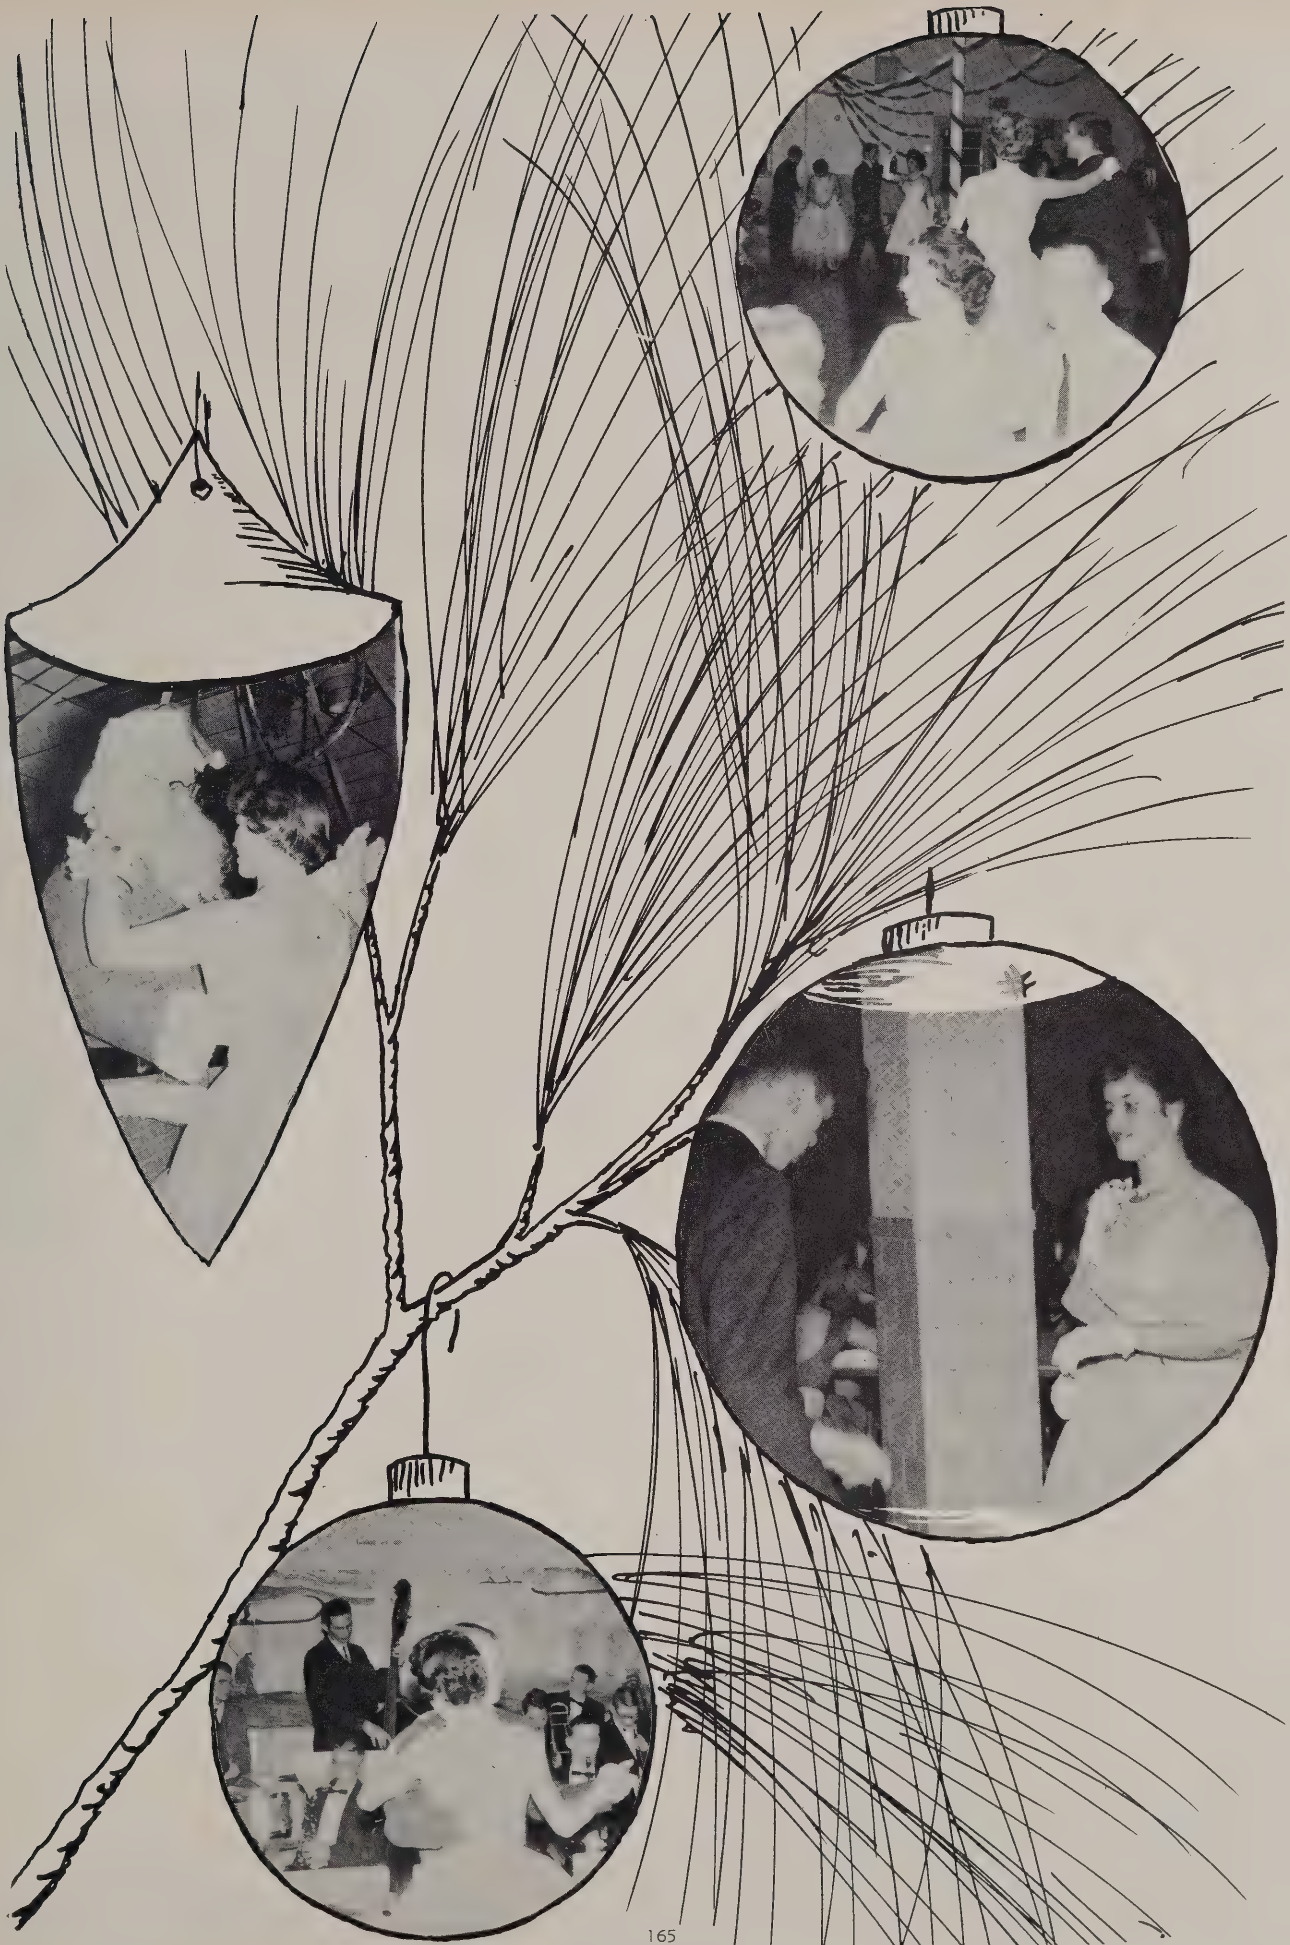
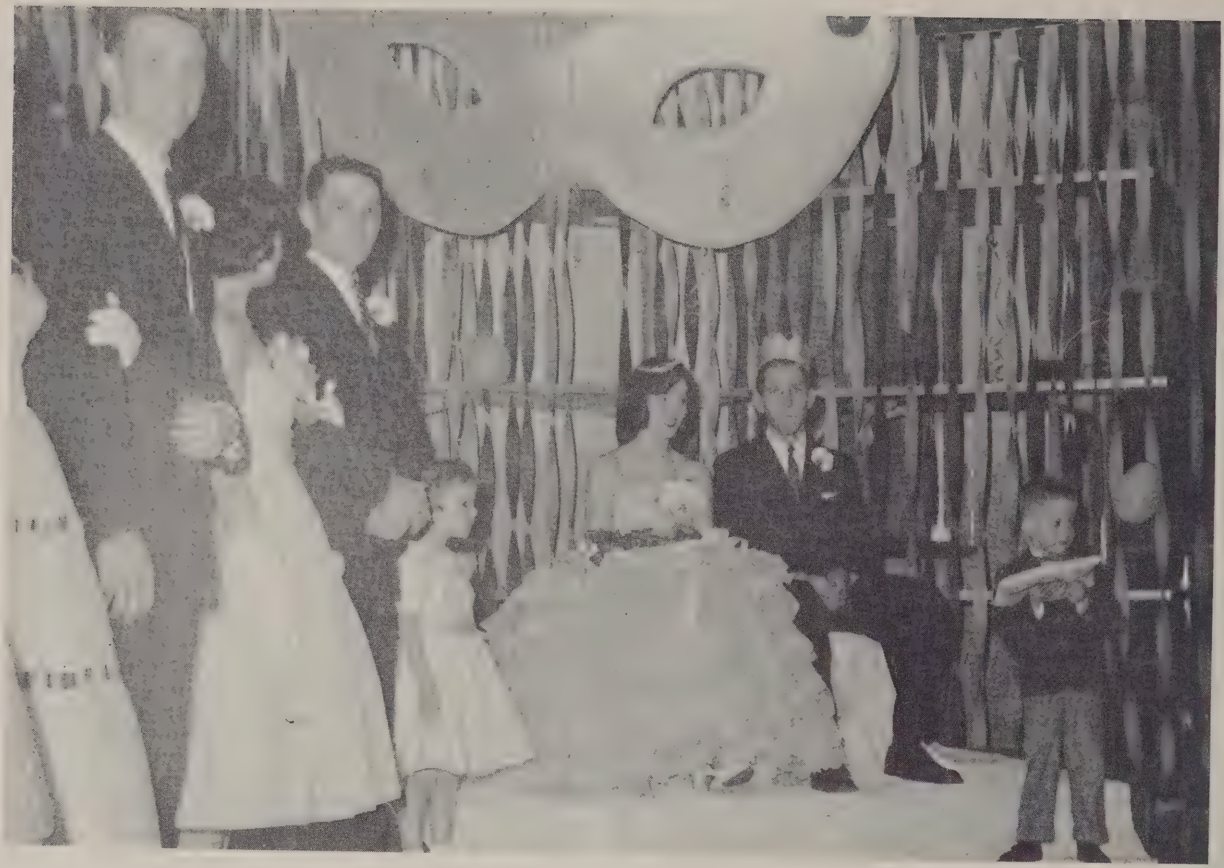
White Christmas

Blue lights on white decorations and vari-colored formals began the White Christmas Dance, as the Twilighters' theme song ushered in the Christmas holidays. The Madison Club's dance featured a new kind of King and Queen—Mr. and Mrs. Santa Claus, elected from the faculty. The reigning pair, Mr. Strohm and Mrs. Bradford, started a multiplication dance after their introduction to draw all couples out on the floor for the final two hours of dancing.





Queen Mary Ruth Ransom and King Bruce Barackman smile on their subjects at the annual Mardi Gras Dance, as Senior princess Gena Rockwell and prince Jimmie Payne, and ex-queen and king Dottie Payne and Frank Simiele look on with flower girl Sue Van Buskirk and crown bearer Steve Vickery.

Mardi Gras

The Mardi Gras is fast becoming an exclusive tradition at Madison. This year's chairman, Tanya Suarez did a wonderful job of transforming the cafeteria into festive New Orleans.

Pat Niccoli, Jane Brockwell, and Dick Wrenn take over the ticket table.

On the arm of King Bruce Barackman, Mardi Gras Queen Mary Ruth Ransom crosses the dance floor toward the throne.

Show stealers Stevie Vickery and Susie Van Buskirk carry the crowns and flowers to the waiting court.

Last year's queen Dottie Payne places the tiara on the head of a smiling queen.

The popular Twilighters swing into a dance for the court and the reigning couple.

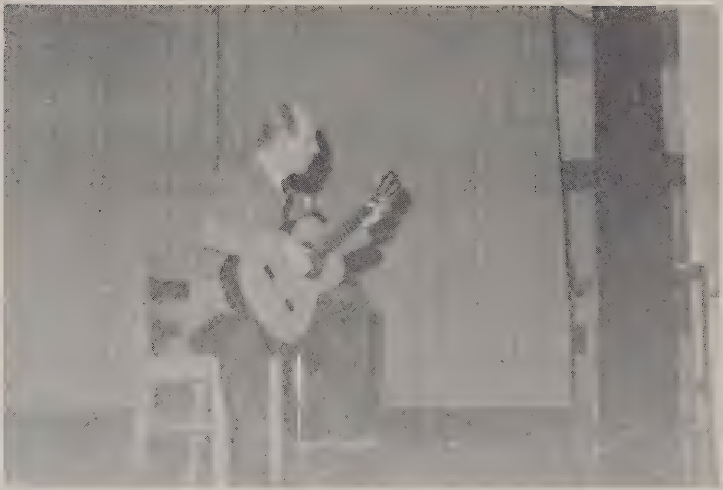
The Christmas assembly pooled school musical and dramatic talents to celebrate the approaching holiday season. A band concert, concentrating on popular Christmas music, was followed by a series of tableaux, set to music by the Girls' Chorus, Mixed Chorus, and A Capel Choir.

Assembly

A comical highlight of the highly enjoyable Air Force Band assembly was the musical fairy tale told by the Master of Ceremonies, Sergeant Bruce Snider.

The James Madison Honor Society held two inductions during the year. Here President Bill Galloway speaks to new members Jim Sconyers, Charles Vasaly, Jim Parsons, Barbara Lane. (Hidden: Margaret Fisher, Diane Moshos, and Joanne Judd.)

Guitarist Charlie Byrd entertained the student body in one of the two yearly paid assemblies. Playing songs from the earliest guitar music written to modern jazz, Mr. Byrd displayed amazing talent. Proceeds from the assembly went toward the Foreign Exchange Student Fund sponsored by the F.T.A.



Periods

The Air Force Band had its serious side, too. Here, the band plays a medley of tunes from the Broadway musical "West Side Story."

The F.T.A. Foreign Exchange Student assembly featured exchanges from Norway, Germany, France, and Brazil, as well as two American students who had gone abroad.

The Man Who Came To Dinner

"How is he? Is he coming out", and the Junior Class-Wig and Rouge play got underway November 18 and 19, 1960. The Man Who Came To Dinner, written by Moss Hart and George Kauffman, was enjoyed by both audience and actors. Before the evening was over Debbie Colony was trapped in a mummy case and Karen Douglas was carried across the stage by Don VanBuskirk. Memorable lines were "I may vomit", "Put me down", and as Carol Lee Prosise said about Bill Bottenberg, "You are an inconsiderate egomaniac who would see his mother burned at the stake if that were the only way he could light his cigarette."

THE THINKER: It's a lonely stage for lead Bill Bottenberg, playing Sheridan Whiteside, as he studies his lines.

WHAT A PICKUP: Bob Van Buskirk as Banjo and Karen Douglas, as Nurse Preen, rehearse Banjo's first drunken entrance.

HOW'D YOU GET THE PURPLE TONGUE? Doctor Bradley, played by Charles Morris, and Nurse Preen check Sheridan Whiteside's health.

"So, just lay off, that's my message to you, Big Lord Fauntleroy!" Carol Prosise, as Maggie Cutler, tells romance-breaking Whiteside off.

"Be careful with that mummy case. It contains a valuable antique!" When scheming cast members shut Miss Walton, director, in the mummy case, she fell asleep.

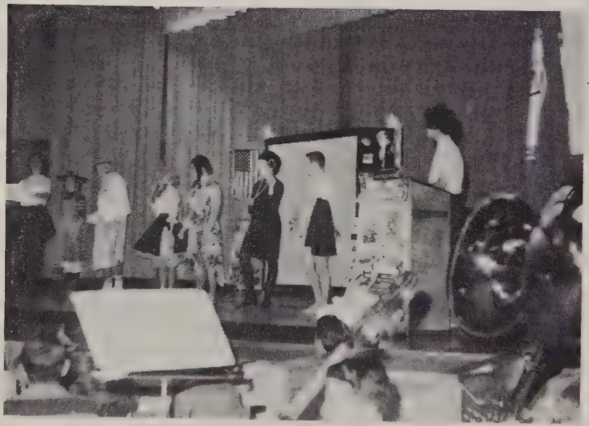
Steve Tate demonstrates selling techniques for Molly Bottenberg.

Bruce Cooper and Debbie Colony seem to have lost something.



Another contestant is announced in the Freshmen Miss Magazine contest.

"I don't want any!" insists the Housewife, as Steve Tate persists in his sales campaign.

Magazine Drive

Led by school captains Bob Tate and David Hicks, Madison's second annual magazine drive brought in $10,584 worth of subscriptions. The money was used for such school projects as choir robes, band supplies, and the foreign exchange student fund.

Beauty contestants Mickey Polo, Nan Nixon, Willie Jefferies, Sandra Kirby, Paula Tiben, and Bill Bines line up for the audience to choose the winner.

Christmas Welfare Drive

The "Cans for Christmas" Dance was one of the ways in which the Student Council collected canned food for the needy in their Christmas Welfare Drive. Lee Groves and Joe Leonard were one of the couples who paid the admission price of two cans.

Mrs. Bradford, Don Vickery, and Mr. Strohm load the entire collection of cans and toys into the station wagon preparatory to delivering them to the Salvation Army in Falls Church.

March of Dimes

Not only did the dimes march, but quarters, half dollars, and even dollars. On the final collection day, students went without ice cream, school supplies, and even lunches, as lunch bags were filled with money on the lunch shifts.

Strange creatures populate the halls after classes are over, but when school grounds are soggy, track men must practice indoors.

And this is what we get up at 6:30 for? Only one good thing can be said for standing in the school bus — it makes for good coordination.

We Will Remember....

The Madison Club, known throughout Vienna as the area's most experienced car-parkers, were also good washers.

Before every away game, Madison rooters lined up for a cavalcade. Sometimes the cars were deccorated with crepe paper supplied by the Pep Club or Cheerleaders, sometimes we brought along our own, but there was always a police escort and plenty of noise . . .

. . . And sometimes, we sat through the game in the rain. On one occasion, rain drove spectators to take shelter under the bleachers, but the football players plowed on through the mud . . .

. . . And, speaking of football, the boys were unable to keep it a male monopoly. In the Powderpuff Game, girls wore varsity jerseys for a game of touch football, while the boys cheered . . .

. . . Basketball season moved the rooters inside, as spirit remained high . . .

BEAT

Mrs. Bradford's spirit became almost a legend through her attendance at every game, and her government classes were often interrupted for impromptu celebrations. Here, a basketball cake provided by Mrs. Nichols is photographed before the knife descended.

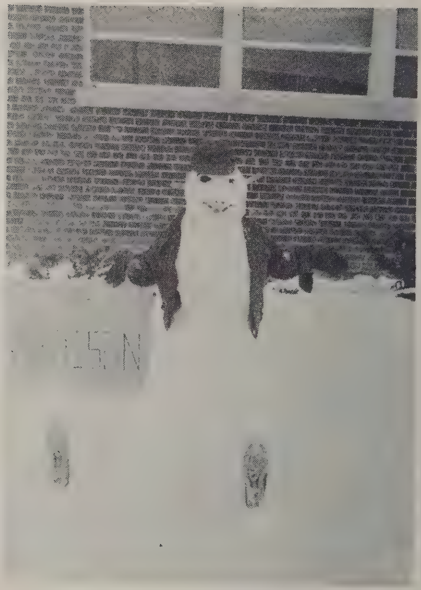
THE START: The snow which kept students out of school nine days out of ten was not neglected. Here, Warhawks begin a pyramid . . .

THE FLIGHT: Balance is shakey on top of that pile . . .

THE FINISH: In a tangle, the toppled pyramid lies in the ditch.



The reopening of school did not stop the pranksters, whose artistry created Mr. Madison.

That WOULD have been a snowball, but the snow wouldn't cooperate.

Advertisements…………

At Madison student life is closely tied to the Vienna area — its homes, its people, and its stores. Without the aid of the merchandisers, school life could not go on.

After school when we look for a snack, on Saturdays when we shop for clothes or school supplies, during our travels to and from school activities, when the car needs gas or servicing, during holiday seasons or before birthdays, when we want a gift for someone special, the Vienna merchants are there to help us. We extend our thanks for their support.

ADVERTISERS

The Class of '61 says

"THANKS"

to all the wonderful people who have made our two years at

James Madison High School

such memorable ones

Alma Mater

Hail to thee, our Alma Mater!
We are loyal, proud, and true.
We wave the flag of spirit
In a tribute to you.

And to those who will come after—
May you always sing our song.
We pass the torch of learning,
Keep it ever burning strong.

We strive to do our best,
Let bravery never rest,
Our colors have a lesson to be told—
Be strong and be sincere,
Have courage; never fear
The red, the black, the white, our colors bold . . .

Hail to thee, our Alma Mater!
Ever in our memory,
The school we'll always cherish:
Madison, hail to thee!
